What makes a great submission?

When submitting a Groundbreaker Awards submission, our judges are looking for four key elements when determining the 3 finalists per category:

Complete Submissions

Be sure to review and answer each question entirely before submitting. Answers to each question do not need to be lengthy, but should touch on everything being asked.

Tying Impact to Your Submissions

How does your submission impact your community, the environment, the construction industry and/or your teams? Be sure to highlight ROI and other success metrics tied to your projects and/or initiatives.

Connection of People & Technology

Does your submission illustrate the impact that technology and/or your team had on a project or initiative? How did the use of technology or your team coming together improve your project or initiative outcome?

Relevant Media Attachments

Do the pictures you attached to the submission correlate to the rest of your submission? Are they high resolution? Videos are optional, but can be a very impactful addition to your submission if you have them.

Still unsure about something related to your submission?
